TransLink® Smart Card Fare Collection System Approved for Rollout by Metropolitan Transportation Commission

ferry trips from Gilroy to the Napa Valley, dramatically simplifying mass transportation in the area. ERG will process all transactions and settle payments among operators daily.

"Regional fare collection and settlement is now becoming a reality for the San Francisco Bay Area," said Mike Nash, General Manager of ERG's American operations. "The tremendous value and benefits of region-wide smart card based fare collection have been proven around the world in systems developed by ERG. We're gratified that forward-thinking transit officials across North America, including those in major metro areas like San Francisco, Seattle and Washington DC, are committed to bringing those same benefits to their regions."
